HEAD COACH TOM O'BRIEN

INTEGRITY. HONESTY. DILIGENCE

In 14 years as a head coach and more than three decades in the coaching profession, Tom O'Brien has quietly become known as a paragon of all three of those qualities. And because he unwaveringly and unapologetically expects nothing less from those around him, he's added another characteristic to his reputation: success.

O'Brien is definitely a man of few words. Instead, he has let his actions speak for him throughout his life and career. While many coaches use hyperbole and flamboyance to attract top recruits, he remains calm and reticent - a man who might say little, but whose words have import. His players would probably attest to the fact that a word from O'Brien, or maybe even a look, has more of an impact than a lecture from someone else.

While others may feel in order to be successful on the field they need to cut corners in the classroom, O'Brien has maintained his high standards by only recruiting players with the potential to be successful academically. He has made academics the first of three prongs in his goal for his program at NC State: To be champions in the classroom, in the community and on the football field. And while many coaches think of the community only as the fans that attend their games and donate money to their programs, O'Brien and his teams have reached out to people far outside the football and athletic world.

But for all of his high ideals and standards, Tom O'Brien is not a man who seeks the spotlight or needs the validation of others in the form of awards or honors (although he's had plenty of those during his career). Simply put, he is a man who is comfortable in his own skin.

Personally, O'Brien would probably want to be known first as a family man. His wife and three children are his greatest passion and despite the hectic nature of his profession, he always takes time to spend with them. He is also passionate about the Marines and maintains close relationships with his former teammates from his days at the Naval Academy. And finally, he has a true passion to make the young men under his guidance into better people, not just better football players.

Former Wolfpack linebacker Nate Irving may have described his coach best: "Coach O'Brien does a great job teaching us that being a championship football team requires hard work, but it can also be fun. He's serious when he needs to be, but he likes to have fun and smile. You just have to know when to be serious and when to have fun. A lot of people don't see that side of him, but I don't think he cares. He just cares what his family thinks about him - his family at home and his family that is our team. Most people only see the mean face on the field or the red face at the interviews. They don't see the funny side with him smiling and laughing. THAT's the real Coach O'Brien."

Professionally, O'Brien has implemented a system for building a championship program based on his ideals and beliefs and is confident that the system will succeed with time and hard work. When the going gets tough, he just keeps following the plan, confident that by doing the right things, success will come in the end.

After patiently following his formula for success, the 2010 Wolfpack finally began to reap the rewards. With nine wins, including a victory over No. 23 West Virginia in the Champs Sports Bowl, the squad tied for the second-highest win total in school history. The team finished the season ranked No. 25 - the first postseason ranking for NC State since 2002. His team won five conference games and came within one game of playing for the ACC title. O'Brien was named a finalist for the 2010 Liberty Mutual Coach of the Year award.

O'Brien's steadfastness is a testament to his proud military background. After his 1971 graduation from the Naval Academy, he served nine years in the Marines, beginning his football coaching career as an assistant for Navy's plebe (freshman) team, then serving at the Quantico Marine Base in Quantico, Va., and tours of duty in California and Japan. He eventually reached the rank of major in the Marine Corps Reserve.

In 1975, O'Brien returned to Navy as a Marine officer assigned to then-Navy head coach George Welsh's staff. In 1980, he resigned his commission and was hired by Welsh as a full-time assistant coach. But O'Brien didn't accept before he examined all of his available options. To this day, he credits Welsh with allowing him to interview with several major corporations before accepting the coaching position. After examining all of his options, he concluded that coaching was where he wanted to be. Thirty-five years later, he has no regrets.

O'Brien spent seven years under Welsh at the Naval Academy, coaching the team's tackles and tight ends and serving as recruiting coordinator. He was responsible for recruiting All-America and Hall of Fame running back Napoleon McCallum to the Naval Academy.

In 1982, O'Brien followed Welsh to Virginia, where they turned the Cavaliers into a nationally prominent and successful football power. In O'Brien's 15 years there, Virginia had winning seasons 12 times, won four bowl games and was ACC co-champion. O'Brien was the Cavs' offensive coordinator in his final six seasons. During his tenure, Virginia consistently ranked among the top offensive teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference. In 1996, the Cavaliers scored more than 320 points for an ACC-record eighth consecutive year.

O'Brien got his first opportunity to lead a major college program in December, 1996, when he took over at Boston College. There, he turned around a program that had been wracked with a gambling scandal and instability. After leading the Eagles to back-to-back 4-7 seasons in 1997 and 1998, O'Brien led BC to an 8-4 record in 1999 and the third-best turnaround in the NCAA I-A ranks. He then guided the Eagles to eight consecutive winning seasons and an NCAA-best eight consecutive bowl victories. He posted nine-win seasons in four of his final five years at Chestnut Hill, posting a 75-45 record and leaving the school with more wins than any coach in Boston College history. Heading into the Eagles' 2006 bowl game, BC ranked as the 18th winningest program of the 21st century (from 2000-06).

Just as impressively, O'Brien's teams were successful in the classroom. The American Football Coaches' Association gave him its 2004 Academic Achievement Award for posting a 100 percent graduation rate. He received Honorable Mention status seven additional times during his tenure at Boston College. BC was ranked No. 1 in the country by USA Today when that publication re-ordered its 2005 regular-season poll and the final 2005 football Top 25 by APR (Academic Progress Rate) score to measure a combination of athletic and academic success. At the time O'Brien left, BC boasted the highest success rate for football among any ranked team.

Following the 2006 regular season, the job at NC State opened up and O'Brien jumped at the chance to return south to a large public institution where football is a centerpiece for students, alumni and fans. The recent upgrades to Carter-Finley Stadium and the commitment to building a strong football program cemented O'Brien's decision.

He brought to NC State his goal of building a championship program - in the classroom, in the community and on the football field. Before the ink was barely dry on his contract, the student-athletes from his team were being held to even higher academic standards, and the team was involved with many community service projects in his first semester on the job.

That championship attitude began to be exhibited midway through O'Brien's first season at NC State. After opening the season 1-5, his team pulled together and won four straight games, including a win over 18th-ranked Virginia and tough road wins at East Carolina and Miami. Despite the slow start, his first Wolfpack squad went into the season finale with a bowl bid on the line.

In 2008, O'Brien's team was decimated by injuries early in the season and entered the month of November with a 2-6 record. But there was no sense of panic around the Wolfpack locker room - instead the coaching staff stood true to its plan and things began to click. The team finished the season with four straight wins and an invitation to a post-season bowl.

That season will go down as one of the most rewarding of O'Brien's career, as his team became the first in ACC history to start the season 0-4 in league play and finish 4-0. The bid to the Papajohns.com Bowl marked the ninth bowl invitation in the past 10 years for O'Brien. His freshman quarterback, Russell Wilson, became the first rookie in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference to be named first-team all-conference at his position and it marked the sixth time in his 19 years in the league that a quarterback under O'Brien's tutelage was named the All-ACC signal caller.

HEAD COACH TOM O'BRIEN

The 2009 campaign was another marked by injuries for O'Brien's Wolfpack. Victories over eventual Big East Champion Pitt and a third-straight win over rival North Carolina highlighted the season.

O'Brien and his staff have also relentlessly pushed the squad to become champions in the classroom. In the last seven graduation ceremonies, 60 members of the squad have earned their degrees, and the cumulative GPA of the football team has steadily risen in just his first four years with the program.

NC State's football squad has also increased its community involvement under O'Brien. The squad served a meal at the Raleigh Rescue Mission during his first year with the program and has become increasingly involved with the Marine Corps' Toys for Tots campaign. The team has taken several visits to Camp LeJeune to visit the "wounded warriors" and in March of 2009, a few players and staff members spent their spring break helping rebuild hurricane-ravaged homes in Mississippi.

O'Brien has been a visible and popular figure at Wolfpack athletic events and Wolfpack Club speaking engagements since his arrival in Raleigh. He has also focused on the Wolfpack's rich football history as he attempts to get former players involved with the program. For the last four springs, he has welcomed back more than 300 former Wolfpack football players for a two-day reunion around NC State's spring football game. An all-star collection of players have been on hand, with representatives from more than six decades.

O'Brien received a community-minded Jesuit education at St. Xavier High School in Cincinnati, Ohio, that helped him earn his appointment to the Naval Academy and has continued to shape the type of man he has become. At Annapolis, where he was a three-year starter at defensive end, he learned to combine his hard work with discipline and leadership skills, traits that prepared him to become a Marine officer when his football career ended.

O'Brien has spent his career influencing his peers and his players. He has been recognized for his valuable contributions to the communities where he has served. He is on the board of directors for the Marine Corps' Toys for Tots Foundation and has spearheaded a campaign at NC State that raised

WOLFPACK FOOTBALL TIMELINE

MARCH 12, 1892

The North Carolina A&M football team squares off against a team from the Raleigh Male Academy at Raleigh's Athletic Park (now Pullen Park). The Aggies record a 12-6 victory in a game that includes two 45-minute halves and has plowed lines to serve as the boundaries of the field. The A&M team wears pink and blue uniforms and nearly 200 people attend the game.

1893

The A&M "Farmers" play their first college game against Tennessee in Raleigh, winning 12-6. The school's three literary societies selected the school colors: pink and blue.

1895

North Carolina A&M, under the direction of Coach Bart Gatling, replaced pink and blue uniforms with brown and white ones, when it played at the Cotton States and International Exposition in Atlanta.

The team went to Atlanta without an opponent, but hastily arranged a contest with a more experienced squad from the Virginia Military Institute. The game was called for 2:30 Friday afternoon on the Atlanta athletic fields, adjacent to the fairgrounds. Though overmatched, the Farmers proudly represented Raleigh and North Carolina, wearing their new brown-and-white school colors.

The team dons red and white uniforms for the first time.

NOVEMBER 8, 1902

The Farmers battle to a 0-0 tie against the well-established powerhouse from North Carolina in a game at the State Fair Grounds. Following the contest, the entire student body at Trinity College (now Duke University) sends the Farmers a congratulatory telegram.

The A&M students rushed from the game and burned down the school's original out-house - the first big celebration in school history. "There were many times afterwards that we regretted doing that," said one early historian.

A&M withdraws from the N.C. Athletic Association and joins the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

William S. Kienholtz hired as A&M's first full-time coach.

OCTOBER 1, 1906

The Farmers use a new "trick play" in a 39-0 victory over Randolph-Macon at the Fair Grounds: the forward pass.

SEPTEMBER 1907

The Farmers play their first game at the New Athletic Park on the school campus versus Randolph Macon. The site later becomes known as Riddick Field and then Riddick Stadium. The Red Terrors also brought home NC State's first football title that year, winning the South Atlantic Championship with a 6-0-1 record.

Before 1907, games were played "on whatever part of the college ground happened to be uncultivated and without trees."

Season tickets are sold for the first time. The price for five games? $2.00!

1910

The Farmers post a 4-0-2 record and win the South Atlantic Championship by winning the "biggest game ever played in the South" - a Thanksgiving weekend matchup versus Virginia Tech in Norfolk.

NOVEMBER 4, 1911

A scoreboard is installed at the A&M Athletic Field. The scoreboard informs the crowd which team has possession, the down and distance and the score.

1912

First enclosed stadium is built on campus and named after Dr. W.C. Riddick.

1913

The Farmers posts a 6-1 record and win another South Atlantic Championship.

1918

The United States' entrance into World War I and a dangerous flu epidemic on campus forces State College, as A&M is now known, into reducing its schedule to four games.

All extra-curricular activities, including football games and practice, throughout the month of October and the first week of November are cancelled as the flu kills 13 students and two nurses in the college infirmary. (One of the nurses was the daughter of school president W.C. Riddick, for whom Riddick Stadium was named.) In all, some 450 students, faculty and staff are infected by the outbreak. In addition, more than 30 students who are affected by the flu bug are shipped out to Army camps across the country as officers, including seven regulars from the '17 state football champions.

After taking off all of October and the first weekend of November, first-year coach Tal Stafford's team receives permission to resume practice a week before the team is scheduled to face national power Georgia Tech in Atlanta. Georgia Tech defeats the war-depleted team 128-0 in Atlanta.

State produces its first All-American, as tackle John Ripple makes the Walter Camp second-team.

WOLFPACK TIMELINE

OCTOBER 23, 1919

State and Carolina meet for the first time since 1905 as part of the North Carolina State Fair festivities. State players wear uniform numbers for the first time and the first game program is printed.

1921

State joins the Southern Conference and begins to wear red sweaters instead of white sweaters. Local newspapers begin referring to the squad as the Wolfpack for the first time.

1927

State wins its first official conference title (Southern Conference) with a 9-1 record.

1928

O. Max Gardner, captain of NC State's 1907 SFA Championship team, is elected governor of North Carolina. Gardner also attended law school at UNC, where he played football and was elected team captain, making him the only person in the history of the state to captain both schools.

SEPTEMBER, 1930

NC State opens the 1930 season by playing its first night game. Under the newly installed lights of Riddick Stadium, the Pack defeats High Point, 37-0.

1927

NC State's new coach, Doc Newton, believes that the offensive huddle slows play too much, so he develops "The Huddle without a Huddle," using an instrument that the Associated Press describes as "a metal gadget the size of a pocket watch and somewhat similar to a baseball umpire's [ball-strike] indicator." Before each play, the tailback sets two numbers on the indicator - one for the play called and one for the snap count. The indicator is passed on to each of the players at his assigned position, and then the tailback deposits the gadget into a special pocket in his uniform pants. Needless to say, the practice lasts just one season and Newton begrudgingly lets his team huddle before each play.

With every man over 18 who is fit for service inducted into the military, Coach Doc Newton doesn't have much to work with. To make matters worse, State hosts Army officer trainees and the Army won't allow its cadets to compete in intercollegiate athletics. North Carolina and Duke both host Navy programs, which allow its participants to play on varsity teams. The day before the Carolina game, 24 of Carolina's 90 players are placed on furlough by the Navy and the day before the Duke game, 23 members of that squad are transferred by the Navy. Nevertheless, State drops both contests.

1944

State hires Beattie Feathers as head coach. Feathers starred as a player at Tennessee and was the first running back in NFL history to rush for 1,000 yards in a single season. He gained 1,004 yards for the Chicago Bears in 1934.

NOVEMBER 10, 1945

Howard "Touchdown" Turner returns an interception 105 yards against Duke, the longest play in NC State history.

OCTOBER 8, 1946

The Wolfpack appears in the UPI poll (19th) for the first time after a 14-7 win over Clemson.

JANUARY 1, 1947

The Wolfpack is invited to play in the second annual Gator Bowl contest in Jacksonville, Fla. Each school receives $30,000 for participating in the contest. Forty-two players travel to Florida for the game against Oklahoma.

OCTOBER 23, 1948

The Wolfpack squad flies to an away game for the first time, bringing home a 7-0 win from Chattanooga.

OCTOBER 21, 1950

The Wolfpack appears on television for the first time. The Dumont Network regionally televises a 16-13 NC State victory at eighth-ranked Maryland.

1952

The Southern Conference bans schools from playing in bowl games and limits squads to just 40 players for conference games.

1953

NC State joins the newly formed Atlantic Coast Conference. There is no league champion in the first year, but the ACC signs an agreement to send a conference school to the Orange Bowl for the next two years.

SEPTEMBER 18, 1954

Earle Edwards coaches his first game at NC State, a 21-30 loss at Virginia Tech. Edwards would go on to win five ACC titles during his 17 seasons with the program and put NC State on the map in the college football scene.

NOVEMBER 23, 1957

Dick Christy scores all 29 of NC State's points in a 29-26 victory at South Carolina that gives the Pack its first ACC championship. Although he has never attempted a field goal in a game, Christy boots a 47-yarder to give the Pack the win. The score had been 26-26 with State driving, but the Gamecocks seemed to seal State's fate by intercepting a pass. Fans spill out of the stands to celebrate, but a defensive pass interference call gives the Wolfpack one more play.

Basketball probation keeps the Pack from accepting an Orange Bowl bid as conference champions.

Earle Edwards and his staff decide to switch their recruiting emphasis from Pennsylvania to North Carolina. A young man named Roman Gabriel from Wilmington is the first big in-state recruit.

The Wolfpack Sports Network is formed, giving NC State its first regular statewide radio coverage with Bill Jackson and Wally Ausley providing the call.

NOVEMBER 28, 1961

Gabriel completes 17-22 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns in a 33-14 win over South Carolina, setting the ACC record for career completions.

NOVEMBER 22, 1963

NC State clinches a share of the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship with a win over Wake Forest in Riddick Stadium. However, the celebration is overshadowed by the assassination of President John F. Kennedy that day in Dallas, Texas. The game had been moved to Friday night and news of the assassination came just hours before kickoff.

NOVEMBER 13, 1965

NC State plays its last game in Riddick Stadium, defeating Florida State, 3-0.

OCTOBER 8, 1966

NC State plays its first game in the new Carter Stadium, losing 21-31 to South Carolina.

1967

Marcus Martin becomes the first African-American player to join the football team.

Second season in Carter Stadium opens with "Big Four" Doubleheader. State beats UNC, 13-7, at 1 pm and Duke defeats Wake Forest, 31-13, at 7 pm.

OCTOBER 7, 1967

The Pack, with its "White Shoes" defense, upsets second-ranked Houston (16-6) in the Astrodome before a crowd of 52,483, the largest crowd ever to see an indoor football game at that time. Approximately 7,000 fans were waiting for the victorious State squad at the airport the next day.

DECEMBER 16, 1967

"White Shoes" defense makes two last-minute goal line stops to beat Georgia, 14-7, in the Liberty Bowl, marking the Pack's first bowl victory.

NOVEMBER 24, 1971

Thirty-four-year-old Lou Holtz is named head coach for the Wolfpack. Freshmen are eligible for the first time since World War II.

DECEMBER 29, 1972

Holtz and the veer offense earn a 49-13 victory over Bobby Bowden's West Virginia Mountaineers in the Peach Bowl. More than 22,000 Pack fans make the trip.

Also, for the first and only time in ACC history, four offensive backs from the same team - QB Bruce Shaw, wingback Pat Kenney and running backs Stan Fritts and Willie Burden - gain all-conference honors.

1973

Football begins the Wolfpack's Triple Crown title run, as NC State becomes the first school in league history to win the titles for football, basketball and baseball in the same academic year.

NOVEMBER 18, 1978

Ted Brown's #23 jersey is retired prior to a 24-10 win over Duke. Brown finishes his career with 4,602 yards, setting an ACC record that still stands.

NOVEMBER 17, 1979

NC State defeats Duke, 28-7, to claim the ACC title.

SEPTEMBER 6, 1986

Head Coach Dick Sheridan and the diamond logo make their NC State debut, as NC State defeats East Carolina 38-10. Sheridan is named the national coach of the year after leading the team to an 8-3-1 mark and Peach Bowl Invitation.

1991

NC State football celebrates its 100th birthday with a 9-3 record, a final AP ranking (24th), a second-place finish in the ACC, and its fourth consecutive trip to a bowl.

SEPTEMBER 12, 1998

The Wolfpack upsets No. 2 Florida State, 24-7, at Carter-Finley Stadium, marking the first victory over a team ranked that high since a 1967 victory second-ranked Houston.

JANUARY 6, 2000

Chuck Amato is named the 32nd head coach in NC State history, returning to his alma mater after 18 years at Florida State University. Amato brings the "Block S" logo back to the Wolfpack after a 14-year absence.

NOVEMBER 10, 2001

With a 34-28 victory, NC State becomes the first league team to win at Florida State in the decade since the Seminoles joined the Atlantic Coast Conference.

OCTOBER 26, 2002

in school history. That mark ties the longest win streak in school history.

JANUARY 1, 2003

TRADITIONS & TIDBITS

WHY THE WOLFPACK?

Prior to 1921, the athletic teams at the North Carolina College of Agricultural and Mechanical, which would become NC State, were referred to the "Farmers," the "Aggies," the "Tech," and the "Red Terrors."

The Wolfpack was first mentioned in association with NC State athletics in 1921, when an anonymous letter-writer to the school newspaper mentioned that some of the school's football players were as unruly as a pack of wolves. The name stuck for football although until 1946, all other athletics teams were called the "Red Terrors."

At first, football cheerleaders used a live Minnesota timber wolf named "State" as the team mascot, but he made just one appearance at Riddick Stadium. According to UPI, the wolf had "to be dragged across the field, a sniping and snarling bundle of fur." "State" was eventually sold to a traveling animal show.

In July, 1946, Chancellor J.W. Harrelson asked students to consider a new nickname for its athletics team, noting that German U-boats were called "Wolfpacks" and the name had developed some seriously negative connotations during World War II.

But the contest to find a new nickname drew some rather uninspiring entries and in the end, there were more letters in support of retaining the Wolfpack nickname than anything else. This inspired a mechanical engineering student named Ira Helms to build a seven-foot tall mechanical robot with size 16 feet and a 120-inch chest. It was hollow inside and Helms climbed inside the contraption for the 1946 football game between NC State and Wake Forest.

In 1947, all athletics teams adopted the nickname "Wolfpack," and cheerleaders continued to use live wolves, nicknamed "Lobo," when they could be found, as mascots for football. In 1966, a new wolf, Lobo III, was purchased to commemorate the opening of Carter Stadium.

However, following the season, an NC State zoology professor named Fred Barkalow discovered that Lobo III was actually a coyote, not a wolf. In the fall of 1967, the Wolfpack was called the "Kool Kyoties," a name that was popularized by Sports Illustrated following the Wolfpack's stunning upset of No. 2 ranked Houston.

COMING HOME

Since Tom O'Brien was named head coach in December of 2006, he began inviting all former players back each spring for a reunion. Hundreds of players from every decade since the 1940s have returned, bringing their families to the Kay Yow Spring Game and to the players' reunion the night before.

WALK OF CHAMPIONS

It's not the oldest Wolfpack tradition, but it has become one of the fans' and players' favorite parts of Wolfpack football. A couple of hours before kickoff, fans begin lining the walkways in front of the Murphy Football Center, forming a path for the team to walk through.

The band and cheerleaders are there, but the majority of the excitement comes from the multitude of Wolfpack fans who line the narrow path, cram between trees and jam the plaza in front of the building to cheer on the Pack before they get dressed for the game.

This year, the path of the Walk of Champions will change to give more fans a chance to get close to the players.

HALL OF FAMERS

The honor of being elected to the College Football Hall of Fame is the highest one accorded in the collegiate game and the Wolfpack has three former players and a former coach in that elite group.

The players include consensus All-American and Outland Trophy winner Jim Ritcher, Jack McDowall, who played for NC State from 1925-27, former Pack quarterback Roman Gabriel, and most recently, Dennis Byrd, who was inducted in December of 2010.

Lou Holtz, who coached the Wolfpack from 1972-75, was elected to the Hall of Fame in April of 2008.

Jim Donnan, who played for the Pack from 1965-67, is also a member of the Hall of Fame, but was inducted as a coach.

THE PINK & BLUE FROM STATE?

When NC State was founded in 1887, it was called the North Carolina College of Agricultural and Mechanical Arts (A&M). When A&M fielded its first football team in 1892, the squad took the field in pink and blue uniforms. In 1895, after three years wearing the not-quite-intimidating color scheme, the squad voted to wear brown and white. That less-than-colorful design lasted just a year before the student body decided on red and white for the school colors.

MUST BE THE SHOES

Before the 1967 season opener with North Carolina, a group of Wolfpack defenders, came up with a unique fashion statement that would bond their unit together: they took their black cleats and polished them white. After a 13-7 victory over the Tar Heels, the polishing quickly became a Friday night tradition.

The Pack defense allowed just 94 points in 11 games that season, but the luck that may or may not have had anything to do with shoe color almost came to an end when the squad traveled to the Astrodome to play second-ranked Houston. Because the game would be played on artificial grass, the Pack had to borrow soccer shoes from the Houston Athletic Department.

TRADITIONS & TIDBITS

The defensive players pondered the ethical implications of changing the color of the borrowed footwear, but finally decided that the white shoes were a necessity. The charm worked, as the Pack defense held the nation's top-ranked offense scoreless in three quarters, recovered three fumbles, intercepted two passes, blocked an extra point and a field goal attempt in an NC State upset.

SHOW YOUR WOLF

It's easy to do: just touch your middle finger and your ring finger to your thumb to make the nose and hold your pinkie and your forefinger in the air to make the ears. You've made a wolf!

FLAG BEARERS

Another tradition that Tom O'Brien has begun at NC State is that of bringing the American and state of North Carolina flags onto the field when the team enters prior to kickoff. He wanted the Wolfpack program to not only honor our nation and state, but also to give recognition to some special players who work hard behind the scenes.

Each week, two special players are given the honor of carrying the flags of the United States and the state of North Carolina. The offensive and defensive scout team players for the week, chosen by the coaching staff, lead the team onto the field.

KAY YOW SPRING GAME

The newest tradition surrounding Wolfpack football is the newly renamed Kay Yow Spring Football Game. Although the Wolfpack has played a spring game every year for decades, Tom O'Brien decided in 2009 to permanently name the event in honor of Hall of Fame women's basketball coach Kay Yow, who died in January of 2009 after a valiant battle with breast cancer.

The coaches have worn pink shirts and hats and the players have been taped with pink tape or worn pink bracelets - the signature color of the fight against breast cancer.

All proceeds from the game each year will go to the Kay Yow/WBCA Cancer Fund and Kay Yow scholarships endowment. More than 21,000 came to the 2010 game, while the attendance tally topped 25,000 in 2010. In 2010, 13,439 faithful fans braved driving rains and dire weather predictions to come and see their beloved Pack.

In the first three years, more than $65,000 has been raised.

DR. WILLIAM R. "RANDY" WOODSON

CHANCELLOR

Dr. William R. "Randy" Woodson was named the 14th chancellor of North Carolina State University on Friday, Jan 8, 2010.

Woodson arrived at NC State from Purdue University, where he served as executive vice president for academic affairs and provost. He took on the role of provost in May 2008, after serving nearly four years as the Glenn W. Sample Dean of Agriculture. Prior to that, Woodson was the associate dean of agriculture and director of the Office of Agricultural Research Programs at Purdue from 1998 to 2004.

Woodson's career has been shaped by the land-grant university system, as he has received BS, MS, and PhD degrees in horticulture from the University of Arkansas and Cornell University, respectively. He joined the Purdue faculty in 1985 as a professor in the Department of Horticulture after beginning his academic career at Louisiana State University in 1983.

Prior to his administrative appointments, Woodson served as head of the Department of Horticulture and Landscape Architecture at Purdue and was a visiting scholar at the École Nationale Supérieure Agronomique de Toulouse, France.

Woodson and his research group contributed a substantial body of knowledge to the field of plant science, which is published in over 100 journal articles and book chapters. His research focuses on the biochemical and molecular basis of plant senescence and the role of the plant hormone ethylene in these processes. This research spans the gap between basic plant biochemistry and molecular biology to the application of this knowledge in the field of horticulture.

Discoveries in Woodson's program led to the development of molecular approaches to improve post-harvest storage and shipping of horticultural products, increasing the useful life for the consumer. His research has been featured in stories published in BusinessWeek, The Futurist, and Discover.

Woodson has received a number of professional honors during his career, including the Purdue University Agriculture Research Award, the American Society for Horticultural Science Outstanding Researcher Career Award, and the B.Y. Morrison Medal from the USDA-Agricultural Research Service. He is a fellow of the American Society for Horticultural Science.

Woodson and his wife, Susan, have three children.

LOCALLY RESPONSIVE GLOBALLY ENGAGED

W. Randolph Woodson was installed as North Carolina State University's 14th chancellor in a ceremony held Tuesday, Oct. 26, 2010 at NC State's Reynolds Coliseum. The ceremony, with the theme of "Locally responsive. Globally engaged," highlights more than a week of celebrations, symposia and activities to honor the new chancellor.

In his remarks, Chancellor Woodson promised that NC State would continue to do all it could to ensure that faculty and students are increasingly successful in their efforts, both in the classroom and beyond; to continue to engage our economic and research partners, in order to support North Carolina's economic development and well-being; and strive to cast itself as one university with a breadth of experience and expertise that is widespread across its Colleges and many disciplines.

DEBORAH A. YOW

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

When she was named NC State's director of athletics on June 25, 2010, by Chancellor Randy Woodson, Debbie Yow laid out a comprehensive and energized vision for the future of the department, which she calls "Wolfpack Unlimited."

Yow's expectations are clear and concise:

- Every sport with a full complement of scholarships should be among the nation's top 25, working towards the top 10 and competing for conference and national championships.
- Every student-athlete should be given the opportunity and resources to be as successful in the classroom as on the field of competition.
- Every alumnus and supporter should be treated as a valued customer, with dedicated service resources from athletics department personnel.

In her first year on the job, Yow has made significant changes to the structure and branding of the athletics department. She's hired three new head coaches: men's basketball coach Mark Gottfried, men's soccer coach Kelly Findley and men's and women's swimming coach Braden Holloway, a former NC State swimmer. She brought in Bob Alejo to serve as the director of the strength and conditioning programs for all student-athletes.

Senior administration has been geared to oversee the implementation of her vision for the Wolfpack's future success. She has also helped change the face of NC State athletics with overall improvements and upgrades to administrative and competition facilities on campus.

She has embraced the school's longstanding traditions, returning a live mascot to the sidelines for football games and rebranding the school's identity by putting "State" on the front of most uniforms.

Yow has made it clear to her coaches and staff that they will be given the resources they need to be competitive at the highest level of college athletics. She has also made clear her expectations for all 23 varsity programs at the school.

In just her first year, the Wolfpack has made significant improvements. The school moved up 22 points in the Director's Cup standings, a compilation of accomplishments for all NCAA varsity sports. And it set a school record with 213 student-athletes on the ACC Academic Honor Roll.

Hardly unfamiliar to Wolfpack fans, the native of Gibsonville, N.C., has been deeply connected to NC State since her youth.

Later, she watched her older sister, Kay, become the first full-time women's coach in the state of North Carolina. Her first all-star, and the first women's All-American in NC State history, was the youngest of the Yow sisters, Susan.

For the next 34 years, Kay Yow served primarily as the Wolfpack women's basketball coach, winning four ACC championships during her Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame career. Debbie Yow faced her sister as an opposing coach and opposing administrator.

Debbie Yow followed in Kay's footsteps, first as a high school coach at Burlington's Williams High School and Gibsonville's Eastern Guilford High before becoming the women's basketball coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also served as the head coach at Oral Roberts and Florida, before switching career paths to become an administrator, at both Florida and UNC Greensboro. In 1989, she was named the athletics director at Saint Louis, where she hired Charlie Spoonhour as men's basketball coach. Spoonhour was named ESPN National Coach of the Year in 1994.

She moved to the University of Maryland in 1994 and in 2000 selected Ralph Friedgen as football coach. Friedgen was named consensus National Coach of the Year in 2001 after leading the Terps to the ACC championship and an appearance in the Orange Bowl. In 2006, she brought in Brenda Frese, the 2002 Big Ten and AP National Coach of the Year, to guide the Terrapin women's basketball program. In 2006, Frese led Maryland to the NCAA championship.

Under her leadership, Maryland's 27 varsity programs won a remarkable 20 national championships and consistently graduated student-athletes, including an all-time high federal graduation rate of 80 percent in her final year at the school.

Since arriving at NC State, Yow has significantly increased the overall athletics department's budget to $56.6 million for operations and scholarships. She oversees a department that includes approximately 185 full-time staff and 525 student-athletes.

Yow has served as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and the national Division I-A Athletic Directors Association. She is a member of the National Football Foundation board of directors, as well as the USA Football board of directors and has served on the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Academic Enhancement Committee, as well as having represented the ACC on the NCAA Management Council.

Both Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal and the Chronicle of Higher Education have cited Yow as being one of the 20 most influential people in college athletics. She was selected to serve on the President's U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She earlier served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television, which is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and other related broadcast issues. She has been inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame.

Yow has written numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior. She holds a bachelor's degree from Elon University and a master's degree from Liberty University. She also has been awarded honorary doctorates for professional achievement from Elon, Liberty and the United States Sports Academy.

She has been married to Dr. William W. Bowden since 1983.
